Equipment Potential

Are you using your ID Baging equipment to its fullest potential? Continuing with our Secure your facility theme, many may not know that most direct-to-card printers have built-in ways of incorporating a security feature into your card.

Depending on the model, it may just be a matter of turning on a feature or purchasing a different consumable.

Elimate the worries of forged badges with these easy to apply anti-counterfeiting measures.

- Fargo, Zebra, Magicard and Datacard all have printer models that can incorporate a security feature that is only visible under black light and can be incorporated easily, simply by using a ribbon with a fluorescent panel.
- Some Magicard printers offer HoloKote. HoloKote is an anti-copying watermark printed across the entire card surface. When the card is tilted, the HoloKote watermark provides visual authentication. There is no additional cost involved in printing HoloKote cards.

Learn the capability of your printer today by speaking to one of our ID Consultants today at 1-800-860-9111.
